COMP 161 - Lecture Notes - 00 -Preface

Spring 2014

What you need to know about this set of lecture notes.

These lecture notes are for the second course in computer science offered at Monmouth College. This courses cherry picks material from a wide array of texts, online resources, and this set of notes. As such, these notes aim to be the overall glue for course. When the subject matter being discussed is the contents of a text, then these notes are meant to accompany the text, not replace it. They're written from the perspective of hindsight and meant to guide reflection and analysis of the reading[1].

[1] so go do the reading